Paris works best when the itinerary breathes.

This plan combines landmark architecture, world-class art, neighborhood walking, French food experiences, and unstructured time. It is designed for mid-range travel using public transportation and walking.

One anchor per day

Major museums and landmarks get room to be enjoyed, not rushed.

Relaxed evenings

Meals and hotel breaks protect energy for a five-day trip.

Geographic clusters

Each day stays within a compact area to reduce cross-city transfers.

---

Flexible dates

Exact booking windows remain open because travel dates were not supplied.

The Paris experience

LANDMARKS, MUSEUMS, GARDENS, AND STREETSCAPES

Île de la Cité + Latin Quarter

Notre-Dame, Sainte-Chapelle, Seine quays, Luxembourg Gardens.

Eiffel Tower + Invalides

Summit views, Champ de Mars, Esplanade, military history.

---

Le Marais

Place des Vosges, historic streets, markets, and a flexible final day.

Louvre + Tuileries

Focused art visit, palace architecture, formal gardens, Concorde.

Montmartre + Saint-Germain

Sacré-Cœur, village lanes, Musée d'Orsay, cafés.

---

Planning logic: each day stays within a compact area, with walking used to connect nearby experiences.

Historic Center & The Seine

Le Marais & Departure

MORNING: LE MARAIS

Explore Place des Vosges, Hôtel de Sully and the narrow medieval streets. Enjoy a final bakery or market breakfast at Marché des Enfants Rouges.

AFTERNOON: FLEXIBLE CHOICE

Visit Musée Carnavalet or take a final food-focused walk. Keep the schedule light for shopping or a last café sit-down.

EVENING: DEPARTURE BUFFER

Early dinner near the hotel or along the airport-transfer route. Allow a generous 3–4 hour buffer for international departures.

|                |                          |
|----------------|--------------------------|
| Pace           | Flexible (5-7 hours)     |
| Transport      | Walking + Metro/RER      |
| Estimated Cost | €80 for two              |
| Key Area       | Le Marais (3rd/4th Arr.) |

Note: If departure is early, move Le Marais highlights to Day 1 or Day 4.

Accommodation & Transportation

Where to Stay

For a €2,500 budget, prioritize neighborhoods that balance central access with local pricing. Aim for a mid-range hotel at ~€140–€175 per night.

- République / Bastille: Excellent metro hubs with diverse dining and nightlife.
- Latin Quarter (5th): Historic charm, walkable to Notre-Dame and the Seine.
- 9th Arrondissement: Near Opera and major department stores; great local feel.

2026 Transport Fares

| TICKET TYPE                  | RATE   |
|------------------------------|--------|
| Metro / Train / RER (Single) | €2.55  |
| Paris Region ↔ Airport       | €14.00 |
| Navigo Week (All Zones)      | €32.40 |
| Navigo Day (All Zones)       | €12.30 |

Strategy: Use walking for central clusters. For 5 days, a Navigo Week pass + 2 airport tickets (~€58/person) is often the most efficient choice.

Food Experiences

Parisian dining is about balance. This plan prioritizes high-quality local staples for breakfast and lunch, reserving the budget for classic bistro dinners and regional specialties.

DAILY STAPLES

- Breakfast: Fresh boulangerie croissants, tartines, and café au lait.
- Lunch: Savory crêpes in the Latin Quarter or a market picnic.
- Snacks: Seasonal fruit from street markets and artisanal pâtisserie.

TASTES TO SEEK

- Regional Classics: Confit de canard, Boeuf Bourguignon, and Steak Frites.
- Local Specialties: Comté cheese, macarons, and fresh baguettes.
- Drinks: House wines (carafe), local cider, and hot chocolate.

DINING STYLE

- Bistros: Traditional neighborhood spots for authentic meals.
- Markets: Marché des Enfants Rouges for diverse local food.
- Cafés: Terrace seating for people-watching and slow coffee.

Estimated 5-Day Food Budget for Two: €470.00

INCLUDES ALL MEALS, CAFÉS, AND MARKET TASTINGS

Budget Breakdown

| CATEGORY                    | ESTIMATE (2 PEOPLE) |
|-----------------------------|---------------------|
| Accommodation (4 Nights)    | €700.00             |
| Arrival/Departure Allowance | €700.00             |
| Local Transportation        | €116.80             |
| Food & Dining               | €470.00             |
| Attractions & Activities    | €211.40             |
| Contingency & Other         | €301.80             |

Estimated Total

€2,500.00

KEY ASSUMPTIONS

The €700 travel allowance is a placeholder for round-trip costs to Paris. Local transport includes Navigo Week passes and airport RER tickets. Contingency covers city taxes and price variations.

Travel Tips & Summary

Practical Tips

- ✓ Advance Booking: Reserve the Louvre and Eiffel Tower on official sites weeks in advance to secure timed entry.
- ✓ Safety & Security: Use a zipped cross-body bag and stay vigilant in crowded metro stations and tourist hubs.
- ✓ Pacing: Schedule only one major museum per day and leave Day 5 flexible for departure logistics.
- ✓ Comfort: Wear broken-in walking shoes; expect uneven paving and significant daily steps.

Final Summary

This five-day plan balances iconic Parisian landmarks with neighborhood discovery and culinary experiences, all while staying within a compact geographic footprint to maximize your time.

By clustering activities and utilizing public transport, you can experience the best of Paris at a sustainable pace for two travelers.

CRITICAL: The €2,500 budget is feasible provided the €700 arrival/departure allowance is sufficient. If travel costs exceed this, consider reducing paid activities or choosing more casual dining options.
